A shipment and revenue tracking standard for all smartphone displays. This report contains quarterly updates of smartphone display and feature phone display shipments by size, resolution, aspect ratio, display shape and technology (LCD, OLED). It provides a four-year quarterly forecast and an additional seven-year annual forecast. In order to track and forecast the rapidly changing smartphone display market, there’s also a quick monthly shipment and price tracker to be provided in this service.

“Smartphone display shipments will start to rebound in the last month of 2Q20. But the recovery of demand will not lead to a stable demand growth but will bring up-and-down turbulence to the entire supply chain.”
